

THE LIST: WHAT I'M LOVING THIS WEEK

(Rosalind's Fave Three)

I love lists! And I love sharing lists with you even more, especially a list of things I've listened to, read, or something that just amazed me this week.

Podcasts are a wonderful way to learn about anything you're interested in learning more about. There are many Podcasts about jazz music, but these 3 Podcasts on my list do more. You learn about the music, jazz as a genre, and of course, the artists. All 3 Podcasts are on iTunes, but I also listed their websites.

Here is my list of the Top 3 "Talk Radio" Podcasts About Jazz. Enjoy!!!

NPR's Jazz Profiles Hosted by Nancy Wilson

This documentary series explores the legends and the legacy of jazz. Hosted by Nancy Wilson. Since the Podcast has been on-air since 2013, the archive is a historical treasury of jazz legends.

Why I love it! I've always been a fan of Nancy Wilson's voice. Even though the law and respect for the artists in her voice, and that makes me want to know more.

Jazz Online Podcast

Jazz Online was created in 1991 by Joseph Vella, and was one of the first commercial websites devoted exclusively to jazz music. Jazz Online set the standard for all jazz websites that followed.

Why I Love It! I don't pretend to know everything there is to know Jazz, or Smooth Jazz music. JazzOnline is an old website. Most of the posts are between 2010 – 2014. A tribute to Al Jarreau in February 2017 is an exception. But the wealth of knowledge there, the interviews, and if you're a Jazz novice, there is a Starter Kit for you to learn about Jazz music at your own pace. Even if you're a long-time Jazz music fan, you'll still learn something. Check it out!

Talking Smooth Jazz

Talking Smooth Jazz is a blog that's been around since 2008. Here's where you actually meet jazz artists from around the world.

Why I Love It! Most music Podcasts just play the music, and Jazz Podcasts are no exception. Talking Smooth Jazz interviews Smooth Jazz artists and producers, and the Podcasts are on Demand. The feature that I love the most about this Podcast is when the host, the Jazz Queen, invites a fan to be a part of the actual interview. You'll get to ask questions of your favorite Smooth Jazz artist. How cool is that!!!

What do you think of the list? Post your comment in the Facebook Group.